ESCAP Work on Agricultural Trade Facilitation

Agricultural Trade Facilitation can be defined as: “the simplification and harmonization of procedures (activities, practices and formalities) involved in the import and export of agricultural and food products, including but not limited to collecting and processing data and documents required for the cross-border movement of these products”

Electronic exchange of sanitary and phytosanitary certificate is an important paperless trade facilitation: helps to reduce fraud and better manage the risks of trade in agricultural products; lower administrative costs and burden of the regulatory authorities; allow for better control; and speed up clearance of agricultural products at borders.

ESCAP’s work on paperless trade for agricultural trade include:

Paperless trade implementation in Asia-Pacific: Benefits and Challenges

Cross-border paperless trade” means trade in goods taking place on the basis of electronic communications, including exchange of trade-related data and documents in electronic form

ESCAP study findings:

Annual regional export gains : $36 bn (for partial implementation) to $257 bn (full implementation)

Export time reduction: 24% to 44%

Export cost reduction: 17% to 31%

Total direct cost savings across all trade: $1bn to $7bn annually

Benefits:

- Effective deployment of resources
- Correct revenue yield
- Improved trader compliance
- Enhanced security
- Increased integrity and transparency
- Cutting costs through reducing delays
- Faster clearance and release
- Predictable application and explanation of rules
- Increased transparency

Challenges:

- Adoption of common International Standards
- Harmonization of legal frameworks
- Capacity gaps among the parties (infrastructure & HR)
- Cooperation between public and private sectors
- Lack of intergovernmental coordination mechanism

ASEAN Single Window

Objective of the ASEAN Single Window (ASW) is to expedite cargo clearance within the context of increased economic integration in ASEAN.

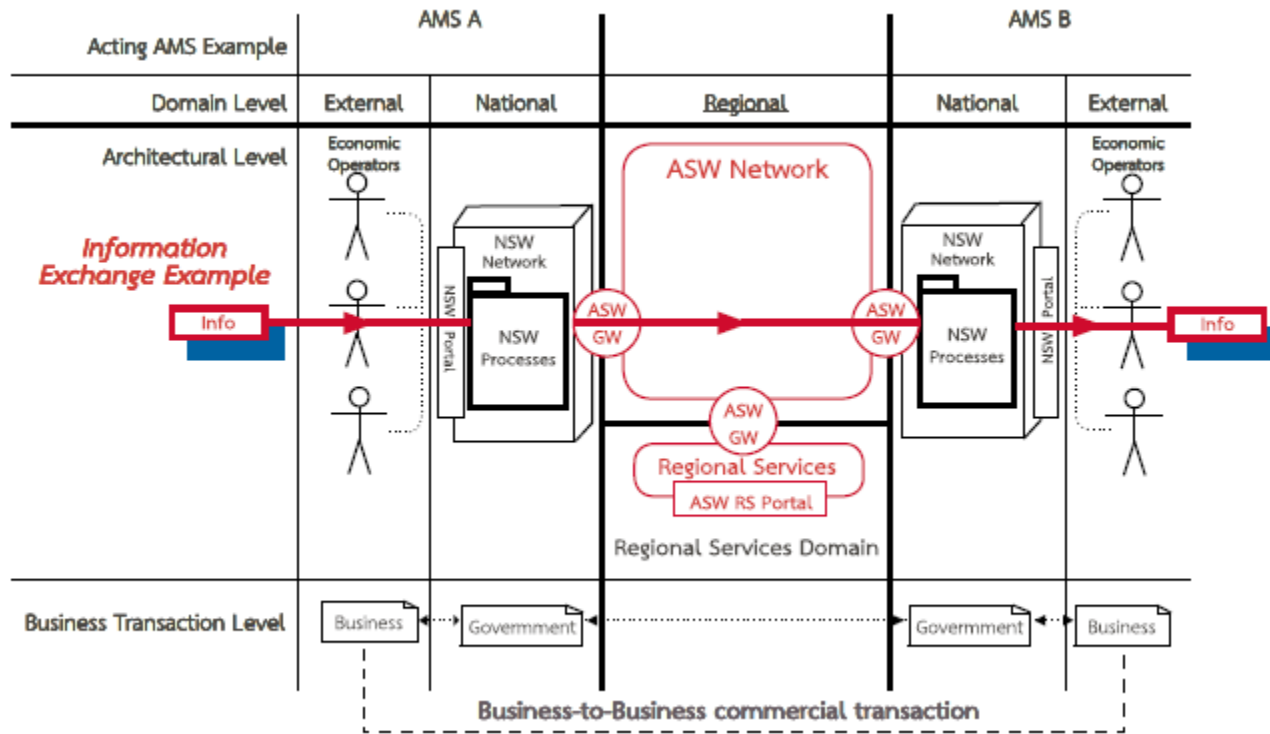

ASW to connect the 10 national single windows of the ASEAN. Each National Single Window provides economic operators and traders with a single point for submitting clearance documentation and data. The ASW provides secure and efficient infrastructure for electronic data and document exchange and communication among Member States through their national single windows.

The aim is to reduce the cost of doing business for ASEAN traders; to encourage trade and investment in and with ASEAN; and to ensure greater transparency, efficiency and savings in government operations.

Key features:

- National Single Window (NSW) of the ASEAN Member State (AMS) as the national gateway and single point of connectivity and communication;
- ASW network infrastructure to provide a gateway to connect to other NSW and regional single windows of non-ASEAN countries;
- Trade data between sender and recipient are maintained and owned by the parties concerned and reside in the national domain.
